

Luis de la Higuera
Satan's autopsy

April 2006 - 425 pages

France, 1654. In the Provence village of Lansec, a worrying skeleton has been excavated.

All seems to indicate that these are the remains of Satan himself, and the excavation has provoked his wrath.

Zenon, a member of the Royal College of Medicine, and the young and beautiful Agnès, will face a thousand dangers to put the truth together.

The reader is thrown into a story full of mystery and unexpected turns, and set in a time when science and religion brutally confront each other. The intrigue is compelling, the style fluid and the necessary elements of passion and adventure are present.

ISBN 2-915586-44-6

Format : 15 x 24 cm, 425 pages

The author

Luis de la Higuera is a scriptwriter for TV and the cinema. « L'autopsie de Satan » is his first novel.

Rights

The rights of « L'autopsie de Satan » have been sold to Poland (Otwarte), Romania (RAO) and Turkey (Dusunce). Paperbacksize rights have been sold to Pocket in France.

Contact : Magali Boragno / +33 1 41 10 95 87 / mboragno@zestory.com

